President Fayram opens the floor to public comment.

Anna Marie Gott and Mike Brady speak.

Director Stomo notes her desire to see a side-by-side comparison of options in the community. Mr. Bounds and GM Savage respond to her comments, with GM Savage noting that a gravity versus effluent comparison will be completed by an independent party, as previously discussed.

Vice President Kennedy asks about maintenance and operations costs, and the implementation of hybrid solutions such as the one we are exploring. Mr. Bounds he will provide those costs, including costs such as repair and replacement, utility costs – which he describes as a three-fold analysis. He comments that some examination of treatment site will impact costs.

Director Parks thanks Mr. Bounds for his visit and expresses his desire to see what he produces.

President Fayram asks about lowest and highest size of community for gravity and effluent sewers. Mr. Bounds responds that effluent tends to be better for smaller communities and offers the example of Lacey Washington as a small community that implemented effluent sewer. President Fayram closes with comments about how nice it is to get the effort started and for Mr. Bounds to have “boots on the ground” to understand the Los Olivos community.
